AOR, LTD.

New Distributor for the UK and Ireland

Tokyo, Japan, June 14, 2010 – AOR, LTD. and Waters & Stanton PLC today announced an agreement under which Waters & Stanton PLC will exclusively distribute, offer customer support, and provide warranty and non-warranty repair for the full range of AOR products for the UK and Ireland as from July 1, 2010.

Waters & Stanton began in 1973 as a partnership between Peter Waters & Jeff Stanton who decided to pool their interests in amateur radio and Hi-Fi and start up Waters & Stanton Electronics based in Hockley. From those early days, progress has been steady and consistent, with the company becoming a PLC in 1997 with ISO9001 registration.

Whilst their roots in amateur radio have remained very firm and their leadership in the UK amateur radio market strong, the company has also moved into other areas of electronics and communications.

All radio related communities will benefit from the alliance of these great companies with Waters & Stanton already experienced having handled AOR products for more than twenty years.

Waters & Stanton has succeed Rimarton Limited (AOR-UK distributor) who's Managing Director Richard Hillier said that he believed that this new distribution deal would ensure even better sales prospects and customer service for the iconic AOR range of radio receivers and accessories. Richard intends to remain involved with the brand through his long association with Waters & Stanton, for the benefit of all existing and future customers.

Founded in 1978, AOR has become a leading manufacturer of radio communications receivers and commercial products to the electronics industry.
